Scala - the power of FP

POWERFUL LANGUAGE. THE FUTURE OF PROGRAMMING

- Scala language, established at École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne in Switzerland by Martin Odersky, is continuously rising in popularity since it was introduced to the world in 2003. It became a useful tool serving business needs as well as tackling some modern social challenges like health, wellbeing, security and education.
- Scala uses functional and object-oriented programming in a practical package. It interoperates seamlessly with both Java and Javascript. Scala is the language of choice for scalable distributed systems, and new generation of Big Data flows and tools.
- Scala is the implementation language of many important frameworks, including Apache Spark, Kafka, and Akka. It provides the core infrastructure for sites such as Twitter, Tumblr and also Coursera.

Scala and business

NUMBERS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

- A report published in August 2016 by O'Reilly Media placed Scala at the second position of the most popular programming languages to be learned by developers in the whole world.
- The demand for Scala experts is growing rapidly, and on average in 2018 their earnings in the USA are higher than Java developers.
- Polish ICT sector is in good condition, recording the average annual increase of turnover amounting to over 8.6%. This is the highest growth in Europe in 2017.
- As the 2017 study of Deloitte shows, half of start-ups in Poland carry out activities related to the ICT sector including business software, mobile technologies, e-commerce, education, Internet of Things and Big Data.
- It is worth to consider the numbers and be a part of Scala world.
